

Jewish Family Home Care recognized

Staff report

Jewish Family Home Care (JFHC), a not-for-profit agency is pleased to announce it has received both the 2023 Best of Home Care Provider of Choice and Employer of Choice Awards from HCP. These awards are granted only to the top-ranking home care providers, based on client and employee satisfaction scores gathered by HCP. JFHC is now ranked among a small handful of home care providers across the country who have proven their ability to provide an exceptional working experience to employees and the highest quality care to clients.

JFHC provides multi-reach, non-medical home quality home care for Broward County seniors from all reaches of life and any faith. JFHC is one of the largest providers of home health care providing assistance to Holocaust survivors and anyone in Broward County needing in-home care. Providing service to more than 400 clients, JFHC offers services such as home health aides, companions, housekeepers and certified nursing assistants. It delivers tailor-made home health care plans, with special consideration to patients' physical and emotional needs, as well as their family's budget.

Bret Stephens to discuss 'The State of the Jews as the Jewish State Celebrates 75'

Staff report

With the current state of affairs of Israeli politics in the news worldwide, as well as at the forefront of the minds of many Jews, Temple Beth El of Boca Raton's Senior Rabbi Daniel Levin will be in conversation with guest speaker, Op-Ed columnist for the New York Times, Bret Stephens on Wednesday, May 3, 2023 at 7 p.m.

Their discussion, "The State of the Jews as the Jewish State Celebrates 75", will be held in person at the temple's Schaefer Family Campus in east Boca Raton and registration is open to the public.

This most relevant program will explore many issues including: What do the changes in Israel's government mean for American Jews and Diaspora Jews around the world? How is the uptick in global antisemitism related to people's perception of Israeli politics and Israeli leadership? How are Jews and non-Jews alike, here in the United States as well as around the world perceiving the recent protests in Israel and their effect on the global political stage?

Temple Beth El is located at 333 SW 4th Ave, Boca Raton. Call 561-391-8900 for more information.

JAFCO gives foster children a second chance at life

Staff report

Children that get placed at JAFCO are given a place to belong and a second chance at life. From the moment they enter, they are treated like family and are provided with the support and resources they may need to have the best possible life. JAFCO Education and Life Coach Lissette Tiburcio is one of the many JAFCO staff that seamlessly become parental figures to the children placed at the nonprofit.

That's why it was only natural for Tiburcio to travel to Illinois in April to attend the Navy Bootcamp Graduation for one of the children, Jay, who grew up at The JAFCO Children's Village. In addition to attending Jay's Navy

Bootcamp Graduation, Tiburcio was there for their 5th grade graduation and high school graduation.

Over 600,000 children in the United States are abused each year according to the National Children's Alliance. While April is Child Abuse Awareness Month, JAFCO has committed itself to taking care of abused and neglected children year-round.

JAFCO's mission is to provide care, safety and support to children and their families within the Jewish community and beyond who are impacted by abuse, neglect, trauma, or developmental disabilities...giving every child a place to belong.
